

Global World Leadership Day Directors Appointment

For Immediate Release

Wellington, NSW Australia (May 21, 2008)

Now into its third year World Leadership Day is undergoing rapid growth and expansion in its global presence and scope as a Global WLD Center. This has led to the appointment of the Global World Leadership Day Directors

Elisabeth Gortschacher, Founder, Global Director and Australian Ambassador World Leadership Day

Eric Patrick Marr, Global Operations Director and U.S. Ambassador World Leadership Day

Working in partnership with Global WLD Ambassadors

From its launch on 20 March 2007 in Sydney Australia, WLD has expanded into eight countries in 2008, and with another 10 expected to join by March 2009, WLD is rapidly reaching its tipping point in every corner of the globe.

WLD Vision: a world that recognises, engages and nurtures the expression of the innate leadership in every person.

“WLD is the voice behind a new way of leading and being in the world. It speaks to the youth and people of all ages who want to, and are already contributing to a more human world where love for each other prevails.

Love in this sense meaning honoring, respecting each person for who they are and acknowledging and encouraging their innate leadership potential.

Our Global WLD Ambassadors are the critical and energetic force behind the rapid growth and success of the WLD initiative” says Elisabeth.
